STRIKERS ATTEMPT TO STOP DELIVERY OF SUPPLIES

Effort to Enlist Drivers in Fight on "Open Shop" Hotels and Restaurants Is Being Made.

EMPLOYERS SECURE SOME EXTRA HELP

Service Improves Slightly Over Yesterday and Hotel Men Issue Statement of Conditions.

Service at hotels, restaurants and clubs affected by the walkout of the unionized culinary forces, was slightly improved today, the second day of the strike. Managers of the 15 hotels, 43 restaurants and five clubs involved reported that they had obtained some additional help, but that business was not near its normal status.

Union officials, on the other hand, declared that the service in the open shop establishments was almost at a standstill, and that it would be further impaired as soon as they obtain promised support from other unions.

Drivers Are Appealed To.
Efforts are being made by union officials to organize cafeteria girls, bellboys and chambermaids, and letters have been sent to union drivers of milk, bread, meat and ice vendors asking them not to deliver foodstuffs to the hotels, restaurants and clubs now operating under the open shop.

Charles Crabb, business agent of the cooks' union, and a member of the local joint executive board of the Hotel and Restaurant Employers' Alliance, which is conducting the strike, said today that W. C.
Connett, attorney for the employers, had erred in stating that union officials had never sought a conference with the employers. T. H.
Glancy, president of the Hotel Men's Association, and the Restaurant Association, admitted that he received a registered letter from the union's executive board Sept. 22, the day the new wage contracts were submitted, and that he did not reply to it.

Conference Deemed Futile.
Glancy said that as the proposed contract was based on a closed shop policy and that as the associated employers had determined to adopt the open shop plan, he did not believe that a conference would result in an agreement between the employers and the union officials.

Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey stated that he tried on several occasions to arrange a conference between the employers and the union officials but that the employers, through Glancy and Connett, refused to meet the union officials. He said that he did not represent the unions at the time but that he was aware that they had sought a conference.

Hotel Men's Statement.
The Hotel Men's Association of St. Louis and the St. Louis Restaurant Association, which, yesterday began operating on the open shop plan, issued the following statement:
"At the direction of union officials, cooks and waiters were, at midnight on Sept. 20, called from their work in an endeavor to force a 'closed shop' policy on hotels, clubs, restaurants in St. Louis.

"Acquiescence of the demands of these union officials would necessitate increasing restaurant prices.
At this time, when restaurant prices are being reduced, we are unwilling to pass on to the public such additional burden.

"The rules the unions attempted to enforce are such as tend to create an artificial shortage of labor, thereby increasing the number of people to be employed and the total wages paid.

"We wish to publicly announce that in our interpretation of the 'open shop' policy the following is true:
"First—There will be no decrease in wages paid prior to October first.
"Second—There will be no increase in hours of employment or change of general working conditions.

"Conditions are but temporary, and in a short time restaurant service in St. Louis will again be normal."

Commenting on the announcement, Crabb said that although the employers had announced reductions in prices of "from 10 to 20 per cent," he had failed to note any such reductions. He said that it was true that they had cut off about 5 cents on certain meat orders, but that the portions served had been more than proportionately reduced. Crabb said that the cooks had asked increase of from $2.50 to $5 a week, waiters had asked for $11.33 cents an hour instead of 27 cents an hour, and that waitresses had asked in-

To Placate Restaurants.
At a mass meeting of the strikers held at Druid's Hall, yesterday afternoon, it was decided to post placards on Page 2, Column 2.

FORMER SENATOR, DEAD AFTER FOUR-DAYS' SLEEP

FORMER SENATOR MURRAY CRANE

W. MURRAY CRANE DIES AFTER BEING ASLEEP 4 DAYS

Former United States Sena- tor First Stricken Ill at Coolidge Notification Cer- emonies.

By the Associated Press.
DALTON, Mass., Oct. 2.—W. Murray Crane, former United States Senator, and for years a power in the Republican party, died early today at "Sugar Hill," the family home.

The end came quietly, after four days of heavy sleep, almost of unconsciousness. The sleeping sickness had set in after an illness of several months, and it was this which immediately preceded death, the actual cause of which was said by his physicians to be encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain. At his bedside, with the knowledge that he was expiring, were his wife, his son, W.
Murray Crane Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. Crane. He had been in the hospital for several months, and before the national convention, but went to Chicago to make a fight for Republican endorsement of the League of Nations.

Last Fight for League.
His health was not good, but the duty associated with him said today that he decided to make what would probably be his last fight in politics for the issue that lay close to his heart. He returned from Chicago further impaired in health.

He emerged from semi-retirement next to attend the exercises at Northampton July 27, the formal notification to Gov. Coolidge, his long-time friend, of nomination for the vice presidency. His health was not equal to the double exertions of a long standing, and he suffered a collapse, recovering, however, sufficiently to be removed to his home.

The Senator rallied for a time from his depression, but failed again several weeks ago, and it was feared the end was near. But the vitality which had carried him through years of work without vacation, asserted itself, and again strength came to him, and it appeared that he was to recover.

Within the last week, however, the heart action became weak, and long spells of drowsiness were succeeded by heavy sleep. He appeared to rally at times, but finally lapsed into partial coma, ended by death.

Crane Not an Orator.
An outstanding characteristic of Winthrop Murray Crane, former Governor of Massachusetts and for two terms a United States Senator from that State, was the fact that he attained eminence in public life without being an orator. Although he served eight years in the Senate, it was said of him that he never made what really could be called a "speech" in that body. The successor of Senator Hoar, whose wit and eloquence rang through the halls of Congress, Crane's chief claim to distinction, was that of silent leadership and of a party mediator.

Born in Dalton, Mass., April 23, 1852, the son of Zenas M. Crane, a paper manufacturer, young Crane was educated in the public schools and at Williston Seminary. He never

SECOND BIG FIRE THIS WEEK RAGES IN GALVESTON PIER

Blaze in Sisal Stored There Is Said to Have Been Caused by Spontaneous Combustion.

GAS MASKS ARE USED BY FIREMEN

Gov. Hobby Orders Entire Water Front Guarded After Second Blaze in Three Days.

By the Associated Press.
GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 2.—Fire which broke out early today in pier No. 41 had not been brought under control this afternoon, but was not spreading from section A, of the pier, where it originated. Two additional tugs had joined the fire fighting force, which now numbers five tugs. Officials, who believe the blaze started from spontaneous combustion, said they could not estimate property damage at noon. Section A contained about 15,000 bales of sisal, about 20,000 bundles of cotton ties, 100 bales of cotton and a quantity of sugar and other commodities.

The flames originated in the lower part of section A, which is filled with sisal and was probably due to spontaneous combustion. It was said the first sign of the fire was noticed when a mild explosion blew out windows and doors of the structure, followed by flames and smoke.
Three tugboats, the American steamers Mountain and Hegira, and the Spanish steamer Mar Blanco, were lying in the slip between piers 40 and 41, and arrangements were made at once to move them.

After firemen and troops commenced work it was decided the ships would not be moved unless the flames show signs of spreading.

Three tugboats were playing water on section B, of the pier soon after the fire started, in an endeavor to prevent the spread of the flames.
Section A extends across the south end, or land side of pier 41. It is in two stories, the upper compartment is filled with general merchandise. Pier 41 is a concrete and steel structure.

First Fire Last Thursday.
A fire last Thursday in pier 35 caused damage estimated at from $100,000 to $200,000. Fire chiefs were unable to determine the exact cause of that blaze, and the long continued labor troubles on the waterfront here has caused reports of incendiarism to spread, although there is no proof that either fire was set intentionally.

One hour after it had started, although burning heavily, the fire was still confined to the lower compartment of section A. National Guard-men, under the direction of Gen. J.
F. Volters were removing bales of sisal which had not caught fire, and were assisting the firemen to combat the flames.

Firemen are using gas masks carrying the nozzles of their hose very close to the flames.

Governor Orders Ranger Captain to Furnish Police Protection.

By the Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 2.—Ranger Captain R. B. Brooks, in command of police at Galveston, was ordered today by Gov. Hobby to furnish adequate police protection to guard the entire waterfront "in such manner as will prevent disastrous fires, if it takes the entire National Guard and every man in Texas to do so."

A new trial was ordered. The second trial ended when one of the jurors escaped. The trial in 1913, ended in a hung jury. The case then was continued no fewer than eight times and finally was dropped in 1917, when the State and Swampy estate, which was providing the expenses of the prosecution, refused to finance the trial.

During the seven years of litigation, when her husband was under indictment for the murder of her father, Mrs. Hyde stood staunchly by him. When the case was finally set aside Mrs. Hyde said: "We are glad to know that it is ended at last."

One of the outstanding features of the Hyde trials was the loyalty of Mrs. Hyde to her husband. Day after day she sat in the courtroom, her mother and sisters within a few feet of her, and either never saw them or looked "straight through" them. When a point that seemed important against Hyde was made in the case, Mrs. Hyde would take a handkerchief to her eyes and look scornfully at the witness that might be her mother or one of her sisters.

At one period in the trial, when the most damaging evidence had been brought out against Hyde, Mrs.
Logan Swope went to her daughter's house at 3516 Forest avenue and attempted a reconciliation with her daughter. The daughter refused even to talk to her.

Both Stood Strain Well.
Dr. Hyde and his wife were seen nearly every night riding in an auto on the boulevards. Dr. Hyde on pleasant nights always rode with his hat off and neither showed any outward signs of the terrible ordeal through which both of them were passing.

Francis Swope was married to Dr.
Hyde, June 21, 1905, in Fayetteville, Ark., against the wishes of her mother.

SEEKS THE CUSTODY OF THEIR CHILDREN

Says She Is Financially Able to Care for Them and Husband Is Not—Married in 1905.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—Suit for divorce was filed today by Mrs.
Frances S. Hyde against Dr. B. Clark Hyde. The petition alleges extreme cruelty and violence. Mrs. Hyde asks for the custody of two children, a son, 6 years, and a daughter, 4 years old.

She states she is able financially to take care of and educate them and that her husband is not the proper person, or properly situated financially, to care for them.

The petition asks also for a restraining order to prevent the defendant from interfering, or intruding at her home at 3516 Forest avenue.

Couple Married in 1905.
According to the petition, the couple were married in Kansas City, June 21, 1905, and had lived together until Aug. 1. The petition further states: "The defendant disregarded the duties of a husband and has been guilty of repeated and constant acts of cruelty and violence toward the plaintiff of such a nature as to endanger her life and has applied opprobrious epithets to her and to her friends in the presence of their children."

"He has by studied words and actions tried to estrange her children and her friends from her and has exhibited a sullen, morose and cruel disposition and demeanor devoid of any sentiments of affection."

"He has neglected in that conduct until her health has been undermined and her nervous system broken down and he has offered such indignities to her as to render her condition intolerable."

Mrs. Hyde states in the petition she owns the residence at 3516 Forest avenue and desires to live there free from the interference or intrusion of the defendant and believes that the right for to do so will not be respected unless the court restrains the defendant.

The attorneys for Mrs. Hyde are Scarritt, Jones Selden and North.

Figured in Noted Trial.
Mrs. Hyde, before her marriage to Dr. B. Clark Hyde, was Miss Frances Swope, niece of Col. Thomas H. Swope, October 3, 1909, Col.
Swope died mysteriously. In quick succession the members of the Swope household died. Dr. Hyde was indicted for the murder of Col.
Swope. At the first trial in the spring of 1911 he was found guilty, but was set free on a full sentence in the penitentiary by the Supreme Court.

A new trial was ordered. The

President Wilson Characterizes One of Senator Spencer's Statements as "Absolutely and Unqualifiedly False"

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.
"ABSOLUTELY and unqualifiedly false." This is President Wilson's characterization of a statement recently made by Senator Spencer in a campaign speech in Missouri which was called to the attention of the President's secretary by the Post-Dispatch. The President's reply in the form of an authorized statement by his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, was given to the Post-Dispatch correspondent yesterday. It reads as follows:

"Oct. 1, 1920.—The attention of the President has been called to a speech delivered in your State by Senator Spencer, in which he quoted the President as saying in a speech which he delivered to a delegation made up of Rumanians and Serbs in Paris that if any nation ever invaded their territory he would send the American army across the seas to defend their boundary lines.
"This excerpt from the speech of Senator Spencer has been called directly to the President's attention, and he authorized me to say that Senator Spencer's statement is absolutely and unqualifiedly false."

This is the second formal statement issued by the President through Secretary Tumulty in the present campaign—the first having been a reply to a series of questions by E. N. Swartz of Los Angeles on the League of Nations.

The statement of Senator Spencer referred to, which he made in an address to the Million Population Club as reported by the GLOBE-Democrat, follows:

"He quoted Wilson's statement to the Rumanians and Serbs, in which Spencer said Wilson told them that if any nation ever invaded their territory he would send the American army across the seas to defend their boundary lines."

KROGER MANAGER BEATEN; STORE ROBBED

Two Men Escape With $150 From Grocery at Rosalie and Pope Avenues.

Two robbers, about 1 p. m. today, held up and robbed a store of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. at Rosalie and Pope avenues, in the northwestern part of the city, and escaped with between $150 and $200, after hearing Richard Dickerson of 2318 North Twenty-second street, the manager, and locking him in a rear room.

Dickerson was alone in the store when the men entered with revolvers and commanded him to put up his hands. One of the men kept him covered while the other took the money from the cash register.

Apparently fearing that Dickerson would pursue them or sound an alarm, they beat him on the head with the handles of their revolvers and when he was stunned they dragged him into a rear room and locked the door between this room and the store.

Dickerson, who was not badly hurt, regained consciousness in a few minutes and called for help. He was released by Charles Miles, proprietor of a shoe store next door.

TENANTS COMPLAIN LANDLORDS ARE NOT FURNISHING HEAT

Ordinance Requires Owners of Apartments to Keep Temperature Above 70 Degrees.

A number of tenants in St. Louis apartment houses where heat is supposed to be furnished by the owner have complained to the Health Department that, despite the cool weather, heating of the apartments was not begun yesterday as the law requires.

Under the terms of an ordinance passed last year, owners, agents, managers and janitors of buildings of this character, in the period between Oct. 1 and May 15, must keep the temperature at not less than 70 degrees between 7 a. m. and 10:30 p. m. and at not less than 60 degrees between 10:30 p. m. and 7 a. m. The penalty for violation of the ordinance is a fine of $5 to $500 for each offense.

When insufficient heat is furnished a tenant is expected to report the fact to the Health Department, which in each case will send an inspector to observe conditions, question other tenants and make thermometer readings.

Prosecution under the ordinance is instituted by the city, with the complaining tenants as witnesses.
Last year there were several convictions. The heaviest fine assessed was $25.

Games Will Be Played in Brooklyn, Oct. 3.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DETROIT, Oct. 2.—The Cleveland American League team today defeated Detroit by a score of 10 to 1, and thereby won the American league pennant. If Chicago does win all its remaining games, Cleveland still would have a higher percentage.

The first game of the world's in that league.

'FINAL APPEAL' MADE TO GET MACSWINEY TO EAT

Cork Mayor in 51st Day of Strike Refuses to Yield—Passed Better Night.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—What is described as a "final appeal" to Terence MacSwiney to accept food was made by a doctor in Brixton prison this morning, according to the noon bulletin of the Irish Self-Determination League on the condition of the hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork.

The Mayor, however, although he was told he was sinking fast, declined to change his decision to abstain from taking nourishment, which he declared was irrevocable.
The league's bulletin read:

"The condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney remains virtually unchanged. The doctor warned the Mayor this morning that he was sinking fast and made a final appeal to him to take food. The Mayor refused, saying his mind had been definitely made up from the beginning and that his decision was irrevocable."

This was the fifty-first day of Mayor MacSwiney's hunger strike.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney passed a much better night at Brixton prison last night, according to a bulletin issued this morning by the Irish Self-Determination League. He had a fair amount of sleep and although very weak, felt very much rested.

Doctors who visited him today pronounced him very weak and recommended urging him to take food, the bulletin declares.

The noon bulletin issued by the Home Office read:
"There is no substantial change in the prisoner's condition."

COURT OVERRULES ESCH-CUMMINS RAILWAY BOARD

Kentucky Judge Grants Injunction to Prevent Freight Sub-planting Passenger Conductor.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.— Overruling the Railway Adjustment Board created by the Esch-Cummins act, Judge Ernest Clark, Kentucky Court of Appeals, late yesterday granted an injunction to W. W.
Gregg, Louisville & Nashville passenger conductor, to prevent his being supplanted on his run by William Pennypacker, freight conductor.

The case was appealed by Gregg from the Circuit Court at Louisville when he was refused a restraining order. The suit grew out of the fact that Pennypacker asked for Gregg's job under the seniority rule contract of the railroad and the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and was upheld by Railway Adjustment Board No. 1, Washington. Pennypacker is a Brotherhood member, but as Gregg is not, he asked the Circuit Court at Louisville for the injunction on the ground that the seniority contract did not apply to him. The injunction was refused and he appealed to the Court of Appeals.

At a mass meeting which was held at Louisville, Judge Clark held that the Adjustment Board had authority only to pass

THREE MEN ARE CAPTURED AFTER NEGRO CAFE HOLDUP

Policeman of Deer Street District Takes Men Single-handed Near Scene of Finney Avenue Robbery.

ONE UNDER BOND ON 2 BURGLARY CHARGES

Another of the Trio Had Been Frequently Arrested in Connection With Gang Feuds, Police Say.

Three men, one of whom is awaiting trial on two burglary charges, were arrested at 12:40 a. m. today by Patrolman Robert S. King of the Deer Street District, single-handed, a few minutes after three armed robbers had entered the Manhattan Cafe, a negro resort at 4375 Finney avenue, forced 20 negro men and women to hold up their hands and searched and robbed several of them.

The prisoners are William Crowe, 24 years old, a chauffeur, of 3555 Lucky street, who has been frequently arrested in connection with gang feuds; Michael Neary, 25, a chauffeur, of 3918 Garfield avenue, who was released on bond yesterday after being arrested on a charge of burglary, and John Groat, 24, a showman, of 3723 Cote Brillante avenue.

Patrolman King was at Taylor and Finney avenues when the motorman on a westbound Page avenue car told him that when he passed the cafe, a black car, he saw many pairs of black hands raised high in the air so that they could be seen through the cafe windows.

Were Getting in Auto.
The policeman jumped on an eastbound car. Midway between Taylor and Newstead avenues, in front of the Ranken School of Trades and half a block west of the cafe, he saw three men getting into an automobile. He jumped from the car and covered the men with his revolver.

Crowe and Groat were in the automobile and Neary was standing by.
The policeman marched them to the cafe, where he had observed a crowd on the sidewalk. He lined the three men against the wall and a number of those in the crowd identified the prisoners as the men who had held up the cafe.

According to these witnesses the three men walked into the cafe at 12:30 a. m., while some negroes were drinking in the barroom and others were dancing in a rear room. Two of the robbers fired shots at the floor to intimidate the negroes and one of him said: "If you don't get out of here, you'll be shot."

The order was obeyed.
Two of the robbers, identified by negroes as Crowe and Groat, kept them covered while Neary, according to the witnesses, robbed the three men. Robert Lausue, the proprietor, and several customers.

Several in Place Robbed.
Four checks aggregating $20 and $37 in cash were taken from the register, $6 from Lausue, $18 from Hawkins, $20 from Finney, $10 from Rogers, $10 from Rogers, $10 from North Market street; $3.60 from Andrew Mills, 2620 North Newstead avenue, and small amounts from four or five others.

After the robbers backed out several persons telephoned the police and a detail in a patrol wagon was sent from the Deer street station, arriving at the corner after Policeman King had arrested the three men. The prisoners were searched.
In Neary's pocket were found three checks and in Groat's one check.

All identified as having been stolen from the cash register. Crowe had $11.25, Groat $7 and Neary 5 cents. Crowe had a revolver with four loaded shells and one empty.
The others had no weapons.

In the belief that the remainder of the money and two revolvers had been thrown away by the robbers in their flight a police search of the grounds surrounding the Ranken School was begun today.

Auto Held by Police.
The automobile is held by the police. License records show it is owned by Crowe. The police say it is the same machine used on the night of Aug. 19 in an attempted burglary at the home of Dr. Ellis worth Smith, 4502 Maryland avenue.
At that time, Sergt. Charles Hall, 76 years old, of the Newstead avenue station, responding to a burglar call, captured Crowe and Neary in the Smith home. Information charging them with burglary was issued and they were released on bond the next day.

At 1 a. m. yesterday Neary and John Hough were captured by two policemen in Charles V. Eckert's drug store, 1240 North Vandewater avenue. They were taken to the Deer Street Station and held there until 10:30 a. m. yesterday when they were released on bonds of $1000 each, signed by John Kelly, a professional bondsman, and approved by Judge Krueger of the Court of Criminal Correction.

Social Center Proposed to Aid Eugenic Mating

Alderman Otto Presents Bill to Provide for Institution Where Those Fitted for Hygienic Instruction on Matrimony, Can Meet.

A proposal that the city finance to operate a social center where young men and women, "physically strong," may become acquainted for the purpose of eugenic mating, is contained in a bill presented to the Board of Aldermen at yesterday's meeting by Alderman Otto of the Fourth Ward. He acted at the request of Charles R. Paine, secretary-treasurer of the Eugenic Educational and Social Club, which has offices in the De Meill Building, Seventh and Pine streets.

The bill provides that the city shall set aside, from its municipal revenues, the sum of $15,000, of which not more than $10,000 may be expended in salaries. This money would be used to maintain a "Division of Genetics" as a sub-department of the Department of Public Welfare, under an official to be termed "Eugenic Commissioner," at a salary of $5000 a year. There would be an Assistant Eugenic Commissioner, at $3000 a year, a clerk-stenographer at $1000 a year; and a social worker, also at $1000 a year.

To Introduce Those Fit.
"The Eugenic Commissioner," according to section 4 of the bill, "shall have charge of propaganda work in spreading the science of eugenics in a positive sense; to be followed as far as possible by organization work, bringing into social relationship the physically strong, who shall be hygienically taught and intelligently socialized, and the youth" to become acquainted for mating, according to the plan and intention of the Eugenic Educational and Social Club, which, when this ordinance is passed, shall become automatically a part of the same.

"He shall also have the right to use any suitable public building within the limits of the controlling authority for eugenic social center purposes."

The Eugenic Commissioner, the bill stipulates, shall not be a practicing physician. His term of office, and that of his subordinates, would be under the same regulations as the other sub-departments of the Department of Public Welfare. The duties of the subordinate known as a social worker are defined as "general field work of organization, putting eugenic clubs into working order and assisting individual members." The commissioner and his assistant are to be bonded.

Club Is Behind Move.
Stationary of the Eugenic Educational and Social Club bears the following names as those of "temperance local officers": Dr. E. P. Dam-ron, chairman Executive Board; Dr. L. C. McKelvey, chairman Educational Committee, and Charles R.
Paine, secretary-treasurer. At the upper right side of the leaf is the legend: "Man, know thyself, and the laws of your physical well-being and social relationship. Family histories, physical, mental and social data resulted."

GARDNER MOTOR CARS DOWN $90 TO $200

Moore Company Also Announces Reductions Ranging From $400 to $465.

A reduction of from $90 to $200 in prices of Gardner automobiles was announced yesterday by the Gardner Motor Co. of St. Louis. The Gardner touring car and roadster, formerly $1235, now $1195, and the sedan, formerly $2245, now $1245.

Russell E. Gardner, president, commenting on the reduction, said:
"The Gardner Motor Co. has decided to make this reduction not because such a step is in any way justified by the present manufacturing conditions, but because they have recognized the fact that the public on the part of the American public for a general reduction, and in anticipation of the co-operation of their sources of supply, desire to assist in an effort to bring this about."

The United Motor Car Co., today was notified by the Westcott Motor Car Co. of Springfield, O., that prices on Westcott models had been reduced $200 to $300.

The Moore Motor Co. of St. Louis also announced a reduction of prices ranging from $400 to $465.
Touring cars were reduced from $2785 to $1935, roadsters from $2445 to $2295, coupe and sedan from $3285 to $2985, and a high-powered, seven-passenger touring car from $2950 to $2455.

"We are returning to before-the-war price standards at one cut," Stewart McDonald, president of the company, said. "We are taking the new level at one cut so that people may know that our market is stabilized, that our prices are as low and permanent as it is possible to make them."

CASKET TRIMMERS ACCEPT 15 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE

All Members of the Union Employed by Company of Which Gov. Gardner Is President.
The St. Louis Casket Trimmers' Union No. 19 last night accepted an arbitration award granting them approximately 15 per cent increase in wages. All members of the union are employed by the St. Louis Casket Co., of which Gov. Gardner is president.

The union has a three-year contract with the company, which provides for a reopening of the wage scale once a year if desired and submission to arbitration if no agreement can be reached.

Arbitrators at this time were Edward J. McCullen, an attorney for the company, and Jesse K. Keller, organizer of the St. Louis Workmen's Protective Union, for the union. The agreement was reached without a third arbitrator. It provides for an increase from 53 1/2 cents an hour to 61 1/2 cents for bench workers, who had asked 75; the same for cutters; from 43 to 49 1/2 cents for steamers and from 25 to 26 cents for women employed 12 months and from 34 1/2 to 40 cents for women employed 15 months or more, which was what the women had asked for.

SEARCH ON FOR 3 LIFEBOATS

the tank steamer Sunoil, stating that four men in a lifeboat from the steamship Speedwell had been picked up this morning in latitude 24 1/2 north at longitude 85 45 west. The men were advised to be on the lookout for three other lifeboats containing 13 persons.

The message gave no information

PEACE PROFITEERS OPPOSE LEAGUE, SAYS COX IN JOPLIN

Article 23, He Declares, Premanity in Sweatshops and Insanitary Factories.

ON FINAL LAP OF HIS WESTERN TOUR

Rear Platform Talks on Day's Program in Missouri; Three Addresses at Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 2.—Gov. Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential nominee, began the last day of his month's Western tour here today with two addresses in which he continued discussion of the League of Nations and farming subjects and also criticized the "Senate oligarchy."

To Missouri farmers he advocated farm representation on the Federal Reserve Board and several other Federal commissions. He also advocated Federal regulation of cold storage and packing plants.

As in Oklahoma yesterday, the Governor was given a warm welcome here. Gov. Gardner of Missouri introduced him to his second Joplin audience, which crowded every available space in a large pavillion at a public park.

Gov. Cox reiterated his charge that a conspiracy has been formed by Republican leaders to keep campaign facts from the public.

The Governor said it had been an unhappy fight to get the bill passed and he is "just going to coast the rest of the way."

Asked if he would send soldiers to Europe without the consent of Congress, Gov. Cox answered, "No, I would not, because I would not have the right to do it."

Gov. Cox gave his indorsement to the four-fold bonus plan for ex-service men.

In his speeches at Miami, Okla., and at Joplin today, Gov. Cox discussed the humanitarian provisions of the League of Nations, asserting that the "profiteers of peace" are opposed to it because it prevents them from "exploitation of humanity in sweatshops and insanitary factories."

The Governor said:
"Under article 23 the members of the league agree to maintain a fair and just conditions of labor for men, women and children; to co-operate in prevention of communicable, contagious and vocational diseases; to provide for the education of children and to control the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs."

"As you will find the munition profiteer is opposed to the league because it provides for disarmament, making future wars impossible, so he cannot coin dollars out of blood, so you will find the profiteer of peace opposed to the league because of article 23, which prevents him from exploitation of humanity in sweatshops and insanitary factories."

He will not admit this as his reason, but probably will join in general clamor against article 23.

Rights Given to Women.
Gov. Cox asserted it must be a great satisfaction to the women of America to know they were recognized on equality with men in holding the Government responsible for the rights they were granted the right of suffrage in our own country."

At the station here the Governor addressed a First Voters' League.
The main address was delivered in an open pavilion at a public park.
The Governor began work on the last day of his Western trip with his Miami rear platform speech at 12:30 after being awakened upon arriving from Tulsa, by steam sirens and a brass band. Here also he was welcomed by a band and paraded through the city, speaking to and shaking hands with the throngs of crowds augmented by visitors from Carthage and other nearby cities.

Cox to Speak in Convention Hall at Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—Gov.
James M. Cox, presidential nominee, back in Missouri today for the last lap of his long Western tour, will come to Kansas City late today.
Rear platform speeches will be made along the route from Joplin. Gov.
Cox and his party will depart for Dayton, O., tonight.

Three addresses are to be delivered in Kansas City, according to the program. The principal one will be in Convention Hall tonight, one will be in a city park in Kansas City, Kan., and he also will speak at a dinner in his honor given by a local council of women's clubs.

Upon his arrival here, Gov. Cox will be met by a delegation of Democratic leaders including Gov. F. D.

NIGHT TIME OR DAY TIME ISSUE IN STRIKE MEETING

Belleville Strikers and Contractors Can't Agree on Time to Discuss Settlement.

Striking laborers in the building trades in Belleville are willing to meet their former employers to discuss settlement, but won't meet them in daytime.

Contractors, whose work has been idle since Aug. 10 because of the strike, are willing to meet their former employees, but won't meet them at night.

The employers say that day time is "strike time" and strike questions should be discussed then. The strikers say they are "too busy" to talk during the day, that night time is "talk" time.

"Mr. E. K. Johnson feels that a meeting between the two would rethe determination of either side on the meeting hour. The men are

HARDING AND COX HAVE BOTH PROMISED TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Pledges of Candidates Announced By President of National Temperance Council.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Senator Harding and Gov. Cox have pledged themselves, if elected, to enforce the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution. This statement was made yesterday by Daniel A. Poling, president of the National Temperance Council, in making public communications received from both candidates in reply to queries.

Senator Harding, in a letter to Poling last month, said he voted for the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law, and had declared for their enforcement, adding:

"This is a representative republic.
Government ruled by the majority as expressed in the polls or in the law formulated by elected representatives, and it is not within the rights of any officer of that Government to lightly set aside the will of the people as so expressed, but I may say I am opposed to the re-establishment of the traffic in intoxicating liquors and will use whatever influence or power I possess to prevent such re-establishment."

Gov. Cox, in a telegram just received by Poling, said:

"I recognize the eighteenth amendment as a definite part of the Constitution and the laws enacted thereunder will be observed and enforced."

Cox's Answer on League and Japanese-California Dispute.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Regarding the argument that Americans would be impressed into foreign service in European quarrels, Gov. Cox in a speech here yesterday, reiterated that Congress only possesses the power to declare war.

The Governor invited and received several questions on the league One inquired whether the Japanese-California land dispute would be taken into the league and "away from our jurisdiction." The Governor replied in the negative, stating that the league and also the Hitchcock reservations provided "that the league shall have nothing to do in our internal affairs."

Proceeding to the grandstand over the race course, every turn of which was filled, the Governor made a brief address on "peace and progress," declaring that the paramount question was "whether we shall or not keep the faith" to those who labored for the league.

RUSSIA'S RETURN OF ALL RIGHTS IN CHINA OPPOSED

U. S. Negotiating With Other Powers to Stop for the Present Acceptance of Mandate Renouncing Concessions.

MOVE TO PROTECT RUSSIAN PEOPLE

State Department Would Hold Decisions in Abyeance Until Stable Government Is Restored in Russia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Acceptance by China of a proposal from the Russian Bolshevik authorities that they formally renounce all rights and concessions previously excised by the Russian Government in China, has prompted the State Department to open informal negotiations with other Powers looking to concerted action in opposition to such a course.

Actuated by the principle laid down in the American note to the Russian Ambassador that all "decisions of vital importance" to the interests of Russia should be held in abeyance until a recognized government is restored there, the State Department also has inquired of the Chinese Government informally as to the nature of the impairment of Russian rights in China involved.

Officials did not state today what nations had been approached by the American Government in regard to the matter. Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan were included. It is understood that negotiations with Pekin are being conducted through Minister Cran.

The strips of land, on either side of the tracks, are 22 feet wide, except at Delmar, where they are, respectively, 60 and 23 feet wide. The land, comprising 157,286 square feet, will cost $23,592.83, under the terms of the option. The money is available under the public vote providing $200,000 for elimination of grade crossings.

The strips of land, it is said, will be necessary whether the city builds viaducts or depresses the tracks. In order to provide sloping approaches at the crossings. The plan usually followed by the city has been to elevate the street instead of depressing the tracks. At present the public plan is for a viaduct beginning at Hamilton avenue and ending at Rosedale avenue.

Russian Rights Suspended.
Action was taken here upon the receipt from Crane of an official mandate issued Sept. 23 by the Chinese Government suspending all Russian rights in China and requesting the withdrawal of all diplomatic and consular representatives of the former Kerevsky Government.

The Russian Soviet Government of April, in a note to the Chinese Government, renounced all rights and special privileges previously obtained from China by Russia, including the Boxer indemnity of approximately $2,250,000 a year. Since the overthrow of the Czar this has been paid by China to Prince Kan-dacheff, the Russian Minister, representing the Kerevsky regime.

Not only have the Kerevsky representatives in China been maintained by this indemnity, it was said, but Kerevsky diplomatic missions in other countries, including Boris Bakshidzeff, Russian Ambassador here, have been supported by these annual payments since Kerevsky's fall.

HYDE IN ALLIANCE WITH BOSSES, ATKINSON SAYS

Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate in Speech at Liberty Traces Republican Opponents' Relation With Morse.

TELLS OF HYDE'S ST. LOUIS SUPPORT

Manager in Pre-Convention Race and Other Supporters Got Lowden Money, Atkinson Points Out.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LIBERTY, Mo., Oct. 2.—John M. Atkinson, Democratic nominee for Governor, in a speech in the court house here last night, opened fire on Arthur M. Hyde, his Republican opponent, whom he described as soliciting and maintaining an alliance with political bosses in the Republican party while posing as a reform candidate opposed to bosses. This is the county in which E. L. (Liv) Morse, the Lowden paymaster in Missouri in the pre-convention presidential nomination contest, and supporter of Hyde, resides.

Atkinson traced the history of the Hyde candidacy for the nomination for Governor from early last spring, when the Third District congressional convention was held in Excelsior Springs, up to the primary.

"You people here know Col. Liv Morse," Atkinson said. "He lives here among you. You know he and Jacob L. Babier, Republican national committeeman from Missouri, got $25,000 of Lowden money. Well, that all enters into Missouri political history, and Mr. Hyde's candidacy also enters into it."

"Mr. Hyde began running for Governor a long time ago. He wanted support up in this part of the country, and he turned to Col. Morse, the Republican boss up here, to get it. Now Col. Morse had a little scheme of his own and he needed the support of Mr. Hyde's friends hereabout."

Hyde-Morse Meeting.
"So what did they do? They met up here in the district, I believe it was in Maysville. They went to the same hotel and slept in the same bed, and at that meeting they decided to support each other. That is, the Hyde influence was thrown to enable Col. Morse to elect two delegates to the Republican National Convention, who would be un-instructed and whom Col. Morse could use in his trading operations. Col. Morse's friends all lined up with Mr. Hyde. It was the old case of 'You scratch my back, and I'll scratch yours.'"

"Then Mr. Hyde went down to St. Louis and began looking for support from bosses thereabout, but he found that some of the bosses were already tied up with his opponent, Mr. McJimsey. He couldn't get them, but he got the bosses belonging to the other faction. And it must be admitted that they supported him right royally. If anybody does not believe it, let him examine the returns from the wet South St. Louis wards, which bosses of this other faction are reputed to control."

Lowden Campaign Exposure.
"Then came on the big Republican scandal of the $25,000 of Lowden money. It developed that one of his most active supporters up in this section of the State had received $1000 of the Lowden money. It developed that his manager, a man living in Sedalia, had received $200 of the Lowden money."

"Then down in St. Louis County the primary election developed the fact that he had the support of Boss Esen, the Republican leader in that wet county, also mixed up in the Lowden scandal. He got $1000 of the Lowden money and he was for Hyde."

"I think they are all for him still. I haven't heard of them repudiating him."

At the time of the Republican State convention in Jefferson City some newspapers published a reported repudiation of Hyde by Morse, but Morse, a few days later, indignantly denied that he had ceased supporting Hyde and said he would give him all the support within his power.

Atkinson departed late last night for Joplin to meet Gov. Cox today. Atkinson and Breckinridge Long, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, will confer today with Cox on the Cox special train from Joplin to Kansas City, where Cox speaks tonight.

INQUEST BEGUN IN CASE OF CLERK FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

Bottle Which Had Contained Poison Near Body of Louis R. Gossman.

An inquest began today in the case of Louis R. Gossman, a clerk, living at 2949 Michigan avenue, who was found dead at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a room at the La Salle Hotel, with a bottle beside him which had contained carbolic acid.

He registered at noon Thursday, and asked not to be disturbed, saying that he was tired and wanted "a long rest." After repeated efforts to arouse him yesterday afternoon, policemen were called. They broke down the door.

Gossman, who was 32 years old and married, was employed by the Anderson-Stock-Buermann Realty Co., 308 Chestnut street. He left there at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, the police were informed, in a Ford automobile belonging to the company, which he used on collection trips. Officers of the concern asked that a search be made for the automobile. Mrs. Pauline Gossman, the widow, said that she knew no reason why her husband should take his life.

CUTS THROAT WITH BREAD KNIFE

Walter Tries to End Life in Dining Room of Hotel.

Edward Fgieldseth, 40 years old, a waiter working and living at Father Dempsey's Hotel, 1111 North Seventh street, attempted to end his life in the dining room of the hotel at 5 p. m. yesterday by slashing his throat twice with a bread knife. He was taken to the city hospital in a critical condition.

Martin Walsh, another waiter, who was in the room at the time, told the police he was cutting bread when Fgieldseth asked for the knife. He handed it to him and Fgieldseth walked to a corner of the room and slashed his throat. "That wasn't a very good job, was it?" Fgieldseth remarked, as Walsh turned to see what he was doing and a second later slashed again at his throat. Walsh disarmed him and called Father Dempsey, who had Fgieldseth taken to the hospital. Fgieldseth told the police he was tired of living. He came to St. Louis a month ago from near Minneapolis.

ROBBERS BEAT MAN IN ROOM AT HOTEL

Laclede Annex Guest Later Identifies Three Men Under Arrest as Assaultants.

Three armed men entered the room of Henry A. Mott, a collector, at the Laclede Annex, at 1339 a. m. today, and ordered him to show them where he kept his money. He insisted he had none of his own and no collections in the room. They beat and choked him, he said, searched the room and departed.

Policemen at 6 a. m. arrested Samuel Boguslaw, 22, Garfield Hotel; Morris Mott, 21, La Salle Hotel; and Morris Bush, 24, Laclede Annex, at Fourth and Pine streets. Mott identified all three in connection with the affair. Boguslaw, who is at liberty on a $5000 bond following his arrest pending investigation into the murder of Jacob Frause, 409 Chouteau avenue, denied any connection with the Mott affair and said he had been in a bath house all night. Mott was one of the men arrested some months ago in connection with a Kinloch Telephone Co. payroll hold-up, but was acquitted at his trial. Boguslaw is also at liberty on bond in connection with a liquor theft case.

Harry Cannon, 26, of 3822 Delmar boulevard, a shoe worker, told the police he had been held up, beaten and tied to a chair in his room by two armed men who attacked him while he was alone in his room shortly before 9 p. m. yesterday. The men robbed him of $2.50 and a silk shirt, he said.

Two youths stepped from an automobile, in which another youth and three girls were riding near Tower Grove and Manchester at 1 a. m. and drawing a revolver held up Joseph Kallin, 19, of 4488 Vista avenue and robbed him of $2. They stepped back in the machine and drove away as the girls laughed.

S. E. Ross, a druggist at Hartner avenue and East Park place, was held up by three armed men at 10:30 p. m. in his drug store and robbed of $45. Shortly after a man telephoned the police that a woman had been held up and robbed by three men at Hadamont and Plymouth avenues.

BILL OFFERED TO PAY FINDER OF OLD STATUTE

Commission on $89,209 Asked for Herman Groeschel, Brother of Alderman.

A bill appropriating $2675 to pay Herman Groeschel of 5730A Reber place, brother of Alderman Groeschel of the Twenty-fifth Ward, three per cent commission on $89,209.42, collected by the city from the State as half of the expense of assessing the revenue of St. Louis from 1917 to 1919, was introduced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday by Alderman Krausman.

Groeschel, who formerly was employed by State Auditor Hackmann, asserts that he found in Wagner's Code, published in 1912, a State statute authorizing the city to collect from the State half of the expense of assessing the revenue. The statute was overlooked in revisions of the code, and although the money had been paid each year from 1916 until 1919, when Hackmann took office he could find no authority for the custom and stopped the payments.

Deputy Comptroller Felix Gunn said yesterday that he had taken the matter up repeatedly and that one day Herman Groeschel, in conversation with him about it, mentioned Wagner's Code, whereupon Gunn looked up the code, found the old law and collected the money from the State. He said, however, that he did not think Groeschel is entitled to payment for finding the law, as it would have been located eventually without his aid. Alderman Groeschel said he knew nothing about the claim.

Alderman A. H. Niederluecke introduced a bill at request of Park Commissioner Pape appropriating

A bill increasing the salary of Hospital Commissioner Shutt, in charge of the city eleemosynary institutions, from $5000 to $7000 a year was introduced by Alderman Wyrick.

Another bill appropriates $895.93 to be paid to the estate of Lynn R. Brokaw, who was a member of the old House of Delegates from the Twenty-eighth Ward. The money is for salary due to Brokaw under the Supreme Court decision holding that the city had to pay members of the House of Delegates, who formerly had received $25 a month, $150 a month, after the new charter went into effect. The $895.93 is the rate of $125 a month during Brokaw's service under the new charter.

—And how father and the boys complained that the bread wasn't up to your standard?

We could save money by using yeast

So, when you read (on each Bond Bread

You will realize how the Bond on each

EUREKA Electric Vacuum Cleaner

THE remarkable cleaning efficiency of the Eureka is the result of its ability to move a great volume of air through all fabrics at a tremendous velocity. Only bona fide electric vacuum cleaners derive their efficiency from this principle. The brush attached to or inserted in the nozzle of this type of cleaner has only one purpose, and that, to remove surface lint, hair and threads—the air gets the dirt imbedded in the rug or fabric.

This wonderful Vacuum Cleaner will be delivered to your home for a ten days' trial. You can give it a thorough cleaning trial on your carpets and rugs, your mattresses and portieres, into every nook and corner—indeed, anywhere that dust and dirt can possibly collect. ## LOCKLEAR'S LAST FILM TO BE SEEN HERE

Another Feature Is Lon Chaney as "Blizzard" in "The Penalty."

The week's feature at the Liberty will be "The Skywayman," a William Fox feature production, in which Lieut. Ormer Locklear and Milton Elliott recently lost their lives in California. The picture was virtually completed when this unfortunate accident occurred. In it Locklear and Elliott are said to have fairly outdone their previous achievements in daring.

Locklear has the role of Capt. Craig, an American who falls in a flight over No Man's Land, the injury resulting in his loss of memory. He is invalided home and takes to the air again to aid a girl recovering from a plane crash. It is while executing this search that he performs many extraordinary feats, including dropping from a plane to a moving train and later climbing back to the plane on a dangling rope. It is announced that 10 percent of the gross earnings of the picture are to be given to the families of Locklear and Elliott. On the bill, also, will be a Ben Turpin comedy and another installment of the serial, "Bride 13."

Ryan Novel Filmed.
Clara Kimball Young in a picture version of Sarah Ellis Ryan's novel, "For the Soul of Rafael," will be the feature at the New Grand Central, beginning tomorrow. This is a story of early California in which the heroine is an adopted member of a tribe of Indians. To save a man whom the Indians have condemned she places her tribal ring on his finger. The ring is a protection from death, but it is also, under the rule of the tribe, means that they must marry. She did not know of this when she gave the ring to the white man, and her efforts to avoid the consequences of her act form the main thread of the story. Several short features also will be on the bill, including pictures of the ceremonies at Sportman's Park on George Kiefer day.

Agnes Stewart in "Harriet and the Piper," will open the week at the West End Lyric and Lyric Skydome. This is a drama which shows the disillusioning of a young woman who is dazed by the "advanced thought" ideas of the denizens of "Greenwich Village." New York's "Bokenman" district. She is persuaded to go through the form of a "free love" marriage with an allowance man, who is posing as an artist. Before it is too late she sees the folly of this act, but the consequences of her foolishness follow her for a long time, and lead her into many strange situations and adventures.

"The Penalty" at Kings.
Gouverneur Morris' story, "The Penalty," put into film form, will be the attraction at the Kings Theater. "Blizzard," the leader of San Francisco's underworld, is the chief character. Having lost his limbs in youth through the carelessness of a physician, he has a growing hatred of all humanity, always fostering a desire for revenge. The role is played by Lon Chaney, who became famous through his portrayal of the cripple in "The Miracle Man."

"Madame X" with Pauline Frederick.
"Madame X," with Pauline Frederick as the star, will continue for a second week at the Delmonte. "Humoresque" will open in three houses this week, beginning at the Shennandoah and Grand-Floissant Sunday, and at the Pershing Monday. Vaudeville will be the Sunday attraction at the Pershing.

"The Devil's Pass Key."
"The Devil's Pass Key," a noted Eric Stroheim production, opens tomorrow for one week at the Delmar Theater.

Flashes From Film Land

"The Moth," with Norma Talmadge, is to be revived by Selznick Pictures. This is one of the earlier productions in which Miss Talmadge starred, and with "Panther" is considered the best thing she has ever done.

The script of "The Honor of His House" will be put in shape for production. Conway Tearle will be starred in it upon the completion of "The Road of Ambition."

Madge Evans, who appears in Prisma Natural Color Pictures, released by Select, has been called the "best-loved little girl" on the screen. Madge is 11 years old and has been posing before the camera since she was 5.

Arnold Gregg, who supports Edith Haller in "Just Outside the Door," a Select Picture, first gained recognition on the screen by doubling for the late Harold Lockwood.

Beatrice Anderson, who plays the lead in "Who Am I?" a National Theaters Picture, the cast includes Gertrude Astor, Niles Welch, George Pierlot, Joseph Swickard and Otto Hoffman. Niles Welch is Miss Anderson's leading man.

"And Me Your Wife," a comedy, will be the next picture made by Owen Moore. He arrived from Europe last Sunday.

Wyn McGuire, who plays an important part in "The Road of Ambition," a forthcoming National Picture, will be the next picture made by Owen Moore.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

ture Theater production in which Conway Tearle is starred, is the comedy in "Blue Bonnet," running at the Princess Theater, New York.

The next Ralph Ince special will be "A Man's Home," from the play by Anna Steele Richardson and Edmund Brees.

A private showing of "The Sin That Was His," in which William Paversham will be starred next, was given to interested friends recently. Everyone was impressed by the Frank Packard story and the fine acting of the star. It will be an October release.

Out of respect to the memory of Olive Thomas, business was stopped for five minutes at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Sept. 28, the hour of her funeral in St. Thomas' Church, New York City, in every Selznick office throughout the United States and Europe.

Beside Zena Keefe, the cast of "Red Foam," a forthcoming Ralph Ince special, includes Huntley Gordon, Freeman Barnes, Daniel Hays, Harry Tighe, Peggy North and Johnny Butler.

In his forthcoming production, "The Road of Ambition," Conway Tearle plays the part of a rugged foreman, who is an inventor in a great steel mill.

Elaine Hammerstein and Zena Keefe, Selznick stars, and Martha Mansfield, leading woman, are preparing to show motion-picture audiences something elaborate in the way of gowns when they are seen in their new fall pictures.

Eugene O'Brien is about half way through making his new production, "Soul and Body," which was written for him by John Lynch. It will be one of the most elaborate productions in which he has appeared.

Elaine Hammerstein, Selznick's youthful star, will next be seen in "The Daughter Pays," from the famous English novel by that name.

Nat Goodwin's former success, "When We Were Twenty-One," is to be pictured by H. B. Warner for Jesse D. Hampton.

Beside Claire Anderson, who plays the lead in "Who Am I?" the cast includes Gertrude Astor, Niles Welch, George Pierlot, Joseph Swickard and Otto Hoffman.

Lowell Sherman has the male lead in "The New York Idea" from the play by Langdon Mitchell, in which Alice Brady is starred.

Gareth Hughes, Cleo Madison and Helen Weer have been chosen for roles in the all-star cast of "White Ashes," which Metro will produce. Philip Rosen will direct.

"Red" Duncan, the "Bud" of "Ham and Bud" fame, is coming back to the screen as a star in a series of one-reel comedies. Rehearsal will release them.

Hallam Cooley has been engaged as leading man for Ellen Percy in "Beware of the Bride," her second starring vehicle for Fox. Howard M. Mitchell will direct.

Richard Stanton, whose contract with Fox has expired, left for England Aug. 14. His last picture was "The Face at Your Window," starring Greta Garbo, the French dramatic actress.

Charles Edward Russell, sociologist, economist and journalist, is to write for the screen, according to an announcement of Benjamin D. Hampton, the picture producer.

Alice Joyce is to begin work at once on her new starring vehicle, "Cousin Kate," the well-known Charles Frohman play by Hubert Henry Davies.

Edward Connelly will have an important role in "Cinderella's Twin," Viola Dana's next picture. Dallas M. Fitzgerald will direct.

Tom Terriss' next big Vitaphone special is to be "The Great Divide."

SUPERINTENDENT IS STABBED

Walter D. Jones, 32 years old, of the American Annex, superintendent of the St. Louis Boat and Engineering Company yards at the foot of Franklin avenue, was stabbed in the left side and seriously wounded during an argument with William Kentch Jr., of 1314 Clinton street, an employee, yesterday.

Jones told the police that Kentch, had resented an order and started an argument which ended when Kentch drew a pocket knife and stabbed him. Kentch left the yards before the police arrived.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT.

WHEN he came to his senses, they were standing at the foot of the steps of an ancient brick house, and he was demoralized to perceive that the time for farewells had come. His companion was also abashed, and before either of them had framed a speech appropriate for parting, she took to fumbling mechanically in the silk-and-silver bag she had carried on her arm. She started; she was confused; she looked up at Warren in white-faced perturbation and chagrin. "My key!" she faltered. "I—I've left it in my room!"

"Oh!" he said, not yet awakened to the crisis. "Well, there's a bell to ring, isn't there?" Her eyes were dilated with dismay and her voice had a stirring quiver in it.

"Why, yes—but there's no one to answer it! The whole family's gone to the wedding in Baltimore!"

"And the servants?"

"There's only one!" she quavered. "And she's not that's another reason why I don't want to stay here alone tonight. She—she won't be back until it's time to get breakfast! She was still searching the handbag with frantic zeal. Warren grew fonder.

"Aren't there any other—boarders?"

"No! I'm the only one! And their train doesn't leave Baltimore until 1:30! And it takes an hour and a half! It was so stupid—oh, it's so stupid!" A queer little sound began to tremble in her throat; he thrilled to it, and stepped closer.

"Why, you poor little kid!" said Warren, and his own voice was compassionately vibrant.

"I'm not crying," she gasped. "I'm laughing!"

"Laughing!" echoed Warren.

She had leaned against the gatepost and her shoulders were shaking uncontrollably. Warren stared, speechless.

"It's so . . . funny! Here I've been bragging . . . about the responsibilities I want—and how I can take care of myself so beautifully—and I couldn't even remember to bring a key with me. . . Isn't it funny?"

Her merriment was so infectious that Warren ceased to be discomfited by the failure of his chivalry; he began to chuckle with equal mirth. "Thank heaven you've still got a sense of humor!" he said. "Washington hasn't beaten you yet if you've got that left! But what's next?"

She was gradually calming herself; but little bubbles of introspection kept rising to the surface and convulsing her.

"Why, go down to the station, I suppose, and wait."

"Until 2:30? And maybe have somebody else want to know you as much as I did? And you think I'd let you do that?"

"Of course! What else? Nobody'd bother me!"

"Nonsense!" he said. "I'll tell you what we're going to do—walk! Because I'm not going to turn you adrift, not for one little minute; and if we don't walk, we'd have to go and sit in a hotel, or in the waiting room at the Union Station, and that isn't exactly my idea of the way to spend an evening like this. We're going to walk around Potomac Park, and I'm going to be your guardian until 2:30."

"Oh, you're such a comfort!" she said, gratefully. "You're not scolding me at all—but please don't think I'm always as irresponsible as this! Why, I never in my life did such a thing before! And when you first met me—oh, you must think I'm perfectly impossible!"

"Rubbish!" said Warren. "Everybody does it once in a thousand times, and it was just about your turn in this particular thousand. Am I your guardian, or would you rather I left you alone?"

At the mere mention of this catastrophe, she instinctively shivered.

"And all I've done all the evening," she said, contritely, "is to say horrid things about you and call you names. I don't know what I'd done if you hadn't happened. You're the gift of the gods—not me!"

For answer he faced her towards the southwest, and compelled her irresistibly into step; from this point forward, until the grim bulk of the State, War and Navy building loomed on their left, they were remarkably incommunicative.

"We're not likely to forget tonight—are we?" she said abruptly.

"I shouldn't have anyway," he responded.

He was increasingly alarmed by the number of undiplomatic things he really wanted to say to her. Earlier in the evening he had considered her primarily in the light of a companion, and the fact that she happened to be a woman, and, in addition, a rarely youthful and pretty one, had been more or less gratuitous. But now, when their surroundings were rapidly growing sentimental, and when the spirit of adventure was reviving with every footfall, he was rather thoroughly sentient of all the factors which went to make up his glorification. As a result of this, he promptly lost his reckoning of time and distance, and cared nothing. He was thinking that war work was like work of any other kind—a man can be efficient at it with only his conscience to spur him; he can be inspired to it by any one of several influences, including personal ambition; but when he has that final goal of ambition which comes from the desire for a woman's praise—such is the hierarchy of victors!

He was suddenly seized with the numbing realization that for a very long time he had been walking almost at top speed, and that the girl, although she had already confessed her weariness, had been keeping pace with him, unprotestingly. Penitent, he glanced down at her; her expression indicated that her own reflections had been far from worldly.

"A penny!" he offered, speaking softly.

"Oh!" she said, startled. "Why—I'm afraid mine weren't worth it. How about yours?"

"Mine were," he assured her, "because I was thinking about you." Ahead of them he described a convenient boundary wall at the water's edge and motioned towards it. "I'm about as thoughtless as they make 'em. You want to rest, don't you?"

"Just for a moment," she said, half in apology. They were seated there together, cloaked in the infinite quiet of the night. Warren lighted a cigarette, smoked it to the tip, and still they had neither of them felt the need of conversation.

"What are you really down here for?" he demanded brusquely. "Just for something to do—because you just naturally couldn't stay away?"

"I had to come," she said. "I don't know why—I just had to."

"Weren't you happy at home?"

"Not so very; but that wasn't it."

"What was, then?"

"I don't know; something seemed to be calling me."

"It's the same with me; there wasn't any concrete motive back of it—just the thought of the war tugging away at me until I came."

"Perhaps we'll be useful yet—if we use our imaginations the way you said."

"I told you what you've done—there isn't a man living who could have cheered me up as you have tonight. I've been a coward to need it!"

"No, you haven't—you've just been human. There isn't any glory in it, that's all. Women are used to working without any glory—men aren't."

"The glory's coming, though," he said. "We make it ourselves; nobody does it for us."

"That's true," she said. "It's just in our own minds, isn't it?"

He looked at her an instant without speaking. He was unexpectedly restless and suspicious of the night; he wanted absolute privacy; he felt that any thought he might convey, any word, any gesture, would be deprived of all its sincerity unless it were an utter secret between them.

"Is it in yours—too?" he asked at length, in a tone that sounded queerly even to himself.

She raised her head, and in the darkness he could see that her eyes were wide and frightened.

"I didn't know before why I was so lonely," said Warren under his breath, "or why I was such a coward—or where the glory was! But I know now, and—"

She was endeavoring to escape from the wall; he detained her gently. "I can't let you go!" he said. "It's you that's shown me—we've got to share things in this world!"

"Mr. Warren!" she whispered, fearfully. "Oh, Mr. Warren!"

"But I have to tell you now . . . There isn't anything on earth worth while until it's shared with somebody! Tonight wasn't—until we had it together. Tomorrow won't be—unless we share that. I didn't understand—and you've made me. I want it all to be ours . . . our tomorrow, and our work and our war . . . it's the only way for both of us!"

"Oh, Mr. Warren!" she breathed, still struggling.

gling. "And you . . . you promised to take care of me!"

"That's just what I want to do—always!" She had succeeded in slipping down from the wall, and he had caught her, and snatched her hands. "God knows you need someone—and so do I! Let's share it all—everything!" They stood there pulsing, while a distant steeple clock chimed twice. "I need you!" he said, huskily. "You've let me be your guardian for a little while . . . I want it to be . . . permanent."

Her head was drooping low, and her voice, when it came, was almost inaudible.

"Don't you remember—my promise?"

"Yes, but—"

"Don't you remember—what night it is?"

"No," he said, stupidly. "No. What is it?"

"I promised you, you could take care of me . . . until 2:30, didn't I?" she said, in a voice so small and tremulous that it barely carried to his ears. "I think I'll . . . I think I want to keep my promise!"

Dumbfounded, he stared at her until revelation smashed upon his brain, and stunned him.

"Dorothy!" he said, thickly. "I . . . I . . . it's daylight saving! This is the night . . . there isn't any 2:30 tonight! Is that it? Is that it? It's forever, then—is that what you're telling me? Dorothy? Don't torture me like this . . . is it?"

Her head moved ever so slightly, but it was enough. In the dimness of the shadows, two workers for the Government averted towards each other. The world, which they were lately pledged to share, was blotted out; it would renew itself tomorrow, and they would take its grandeur and its grim responsibility together—but for this moment, their universe was crystallized into the space of a single heart beat—and their lips met.

Your Character Is Often Revealed By the Way You Carry a Package, Says Arthur Delroy, Psychiatrist

"If He Has Independence He Will Have an Easy Don't-Care-if-You-See-Me Style—If He Is a Snob He Will Have an Apologetic I-Was-Forced-to-Carry-This Manner."

By FAY STEVENSON.

HOW can we read the character of a man or a woman we meet casually or in business relations?

"Not just by the slope of the chin or the forehead, the length of the nose or the color of the eyes," says Mr. Arthur Delroy, president of the Psychic Club and well-known lecturer on psychological subjects. "While all these points may play an important part in 'sizing' up a new acquaintance," admitted Mr. Delroy, "not everyone with a receding chin lacks determination any more than we can assert that people with brown eyes are jealous and those with blue eyes true."

"Everyone is by nature a true physiognomist and he has a little more of his own which he applies to his friends, but it seems to me that the best way to read character is from habits and gestures. Quick, impetuous gestures tell of an excitable, impatient, unreliable nature—though, sometimes, of brilliant mind. Deliberate gestures speak of caution, reliability and common sense. Very deliberate gestures usually mean slow wit, listlessness or want of good sense."

"Do you think we ought to be able to tell something about a man by the way he walks?" I asked Mr. Delroy.

"A reader of character can get much by observing a man's walk," replied Mr. Delroy. "A military walk would mark precision, a slovenly walk lack of breeding, a rolling walk good fellowship. Quick walking tells of energy and nervousness, and if with a forward stoop, anxiety, rebelliousness and success. Slow walking (unless from stoutness or disease) tells of laziness, indifference and lack of purpose."

"The carrying of packages often betrays character," continued Mr. Delroy. "Much can be deduced concerning a person's temperament just by the manner he assumes while carrying a package. If he has independence he will have an easy don't-care-if-you-see-me style. If he is a snob he will have an apologetic I-was-forced-to-carry-this manner. If the package is carried in a careless, natural manner you may consider he has poise. But if it is carried upside down and hanging all over him you can judge him to be of a nervous, happy-go-lucky disposition."

"How about a person's laugh?" I asked. "Can we get an insight to a man's character that way?"

"This is a very reliable insight into the real nature of a person," said Mr. Delroy. "Who cannot detect the false laugh, the roar of the empty head and the insinuating guffaw of the 'good fellow.' Then there is the short, staccato laugh of nervousness, the excuse-me-for-laughing cackle of the social Urial Heep and other such typical specimens of human amusement."

"One of the best ways to 'size a stranger up' is to watch the way he takes a seat. Some people take a seat gracefully, as though born to a throne, while others are fidgety, as though born to a soap box. The close critic will see character also in the spreading of some persons over 10 cents' worth of a 6-cent street car while other people are standing."

"Young ladies might form a good opinion of the way a young man raises his hat," continued Mr. Delroy. "They might note such different characteristics as:

"Servility—Touching the cap style.

"Pomposity—The grand flourish.

"Conceit—The mincing little watch-me-do-it style.

"Patronage—A quick, indifferent but polite air.

"Familiarity—The puppy-dog yearning tilt of the cad."

"It is all very well to study physical traits," concluded Mr. Delroy, "but if I really wanted to study a person or analyze his character I would watch his gestures and habits, for I believe they point out the inner man or woman."

UNCOMMON SENSE

BE AFRAID TO BE SCARED.

By JOHN BLAKE.

FEAR has done more harm in the world than drunkenness—which is saying a good deal. The sooner you eliminate fear from your make-up, the sooner you will get where you are trying to go.

There is the fear of the rich and powerful—too common, even in this day when the rich and powerful can do little harm to their fellows.

There is the fear of poverty—a real fear, and one which is harder to shake off than all the others.

There is the fear of what other people will say, the fear of being ridiculed—the commonest and perhaps the most mischievous form.

Remember them all out of your system. Get them that the rich and powerful, of whose greatness you stand in awe, are only human beings, and that they have little reason for wanting to injure you, even if it were possible.

Get rid of the fear of poverty by thrift and frugality, which will enable you if necessary to live on a little, and give you a reserve to take you over if the loss of a job temporarily strands you on the beach.

As to the fear of ridicule, forget it altogether. The opinion of other people is more negligible than you suppose. And those who would ridicule you because you are working hard and with a purpose are moved more by jealousy than any other motive.

Fear is instinctive in most of us. It is one of the result of the desire for self-preservation that is as old as the race. But it is always a handicap. The thing that you are afraid of is fear—the fear that makes you a weak, paltry creature, with your faculties paralyzed, and all the elements of progress that are in you terrified into inaction.

COOKED TOMATOES.

RIPE tomatoes are delicious baked or fried, and supply a very excellent way of using bits of leftover food. Remove the skins by pouring boiling water over the tomatoes, then plunging them into cold water, when the skins strip off easily. Set them in a shallow pan, sprinkle them with salt and pepper, and little dabs of butter or substitute. Bake quickly until tender, not long enough to make the tomatoes lose their shape. The centers of the tomatoes may be removed and replaced by bread crumbs and a little chopped onion, or chopped meat, or by grated cheese. Cooked peas or corn remaining from the previous meal makes a good filling for baked tomatoes.

To fry tomatoes, remove the skins, cut in half, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and fry in a granite pan in which butter or substitute has been melted. Cover the pan, and do not turn the tomatoes; cook them just until tender, not to break them in pieces. Use the liquor left in the pan as a gravy, thickened, if preferred, by a little flour made into a smooth paste with a little cold water and stirred into the liquor. Bread crumbs or grated cheese may also be used on fried tomatoes.

Escalloped tomatoes, a layer of sliced tomatoes, alternating with a layer of buttered bread crumbs, well-seasoned, and not cooked too long, are also very palatable and nourishing.

The essential thing, in cooking ripe tomatoes, is to cook them as quickly as possible, and not too long. The flavor of fresh-cooked tomatoes is much better than that of canned tomatoes, if care is taken in this respect.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Sammy Jay Is Paid for His Trouble.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Who robs the bee should not complain To find his honey mixed with pain.

—Sammy Jay.

SAMMY JAY happened to be on his way to the Old Orchard just as Farmer Brown's boy came out of the Green Forest on his way home after finding the three Bees. Sammy turned aside and perched in the top of a tree from which he could watch Farmer Brown's boy. He always interests Sammy Jay.

"You never can tell what he will do next," explained Sammy to Peter Rabbit when they were talking about the antics of the little fellow. "I've learned a lot just by watching him. People who do unexpected things are always the most interesting."

Now as Sammy Jay watched, Farmer Brown's boy did the unexpected.

Sammy Jay never before in all his life had seen anything so funny.

ed. He stopped right in the middle of the Green Meadows, fished in all his pockets and then turned back toward the Green Forest and began to run.

"Now what is he doing that for?" muttered Sammy Jay. "It is pretty near his dinner time and he ought to go straight home. I was going to meet Mr. Jay in the Old Orchard. If I am late she won't wait for me. I get home I'll have to listen to that sharp tongue of hers, so I ought to hurry on. But I would like to know what Farmer Brown's boy is hurrying back like that for."

Sammy glanced over toward the Old Orchard, shrugged his blue shoulders and then spread his blue wings. But he didn't head toward the Old Orchard. No, sir, he didn't. He headed toward the Green Forest at the place where Farmer Brown's boy was just entering it.

Now, ordinarily, Sammy Jay is a noisy fowl, as you very well know. But there are times when he is as silent as if he had lost his tongue. This always is so when he is spying on anyone. It was so now. He followed along behind Farmer Brown's boy, flying from tree to tree, keeping out of sight himself but managing to always keep Farmer Brown's boy in sight. So it was that he saw all that happened at that Bee-tree.

He had been so intent watching Farmer Brown's boy that he did not see Buster Bear up in that tree until Farmer Brown's boy yelled. To be sure he had heard the growling and grunting and snarling and whining and whimpering, but he hadn't discovered just where they were coming from until just as Farmer Brown's boy yelled.

Then Sammy nearly lost his balance from startled surprise as he saw Buster Bear scramble down part way and then drop from that tree. He saw Buster Bear to his heels, a cloud of angry bees following him. He saw him bump into trees and stumble over logs, and it was so funny he couldn't keep still with laughter. His mouth and screamed at the top of his lungs, "Thief! thief! thief!" And that, when you come to think of it, was funny, too, for it was just as if he had seen Buster Bear's boy called Buster Bear.

Sammy turned from watching Buster Bear to see what Farmer Brown's boy was doing. He was rolling on the ground with laughter, and he yelled "Wow! Ouch!" and scrambled to his feet. Then he, in his turn, began to run without looking where he was going. He, too, bumped into trees, and he stumbled over logs. Twice he fell flat, but was on his feet and running again in a jiffy. All the time he was yelling and slapping at his face and neck.

You see a lot of those Bees, who had lost track of Buster Bear, had discovered Farmer Brown's boy and they were so mad that they were ready to sting anybody they could find, or, perhaps, they mistook Farmer Brown's boy for Buster Bear. Anyway, they put him to flight in just the same way.

Sammy Jay never before in all his life had seen anything so funny. He laughed until he had hardly strength enough to fly. Then he started back for the Old Orchard. He had been paid, more than paid, for his trouble in following Farmer Brown's boy.

The Weekly Health Talk

By Dr. G. A. Jordan
ASSISTANT CITY HEALTH COMMISSIONER.

THE season is now approaching when the majority of people who they think is necessary for their protection during the cold season. For the aged and very young, who are inactive and whose powers of resistance are low, warm, underclothing is essential, but nothing is more conducive to "taking cold" and to pulmonary affections, than the wearing of heavy underclothing by persons who are full of vigor and whose life demands changes from high to low temperatures many times daily, and persons, excepting the aged and very young, will find the wearing of such garments as this, or only very moderately heavy baize, or similar material, a protection from colds, pneumonia and other diseases prevalent at this season of the year. The reason is that a person with heavy underclothing goes from a cold temperature outside into a building or room where the temperature is often from 75 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit. If they are at all active in such a temperature the result is a perspiration which if not excessive is at least sufficient to cause such underclothing to become slightly moist. They then pass from this high temperature out into a temperature many degrees lower, with a resulting chilling of the skin, which is conducive to what is known as taking cold, a bronchitis or possibly pneumonia.

The proper regulation of clothing in winter is to wear light or at most moderately heavy underclothing and to regulate the warmth of the body by the outer garments which can be removed upon entering a room with a high temperature.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

UNWRITTEN HISTORY.

It was discovered that Romans dwelt largely in flat houses and that profiteering among landlords was the rule. Though Cicero the Indian sign affixed to Mr. Cataline in early days, with measured phrase Mellifluous and mellow, Which made the Senate cheer and sob, we thought he overdid the job; For Cataline appeared a fine Though somewhat wayward fellow.

But very likely Cataline owned tenements on Palatine And boosted rents on helpless tenants, Who earned but few scotches; And if that happens to be so we quite agree that Cicero Was justified when he applied His free and flowing curses.

Though Caesar got a settling punch from Brutus Cassius and their bunch, Their hasty act has always lacked Our heartfelt approbation. For Caesar, though ambition dwelt and waxed apace beneath his belt, Knew how to reign his wide domain With sense and moderation.

But possibly when tenants cried for leave to get a landlord's hide J. Caesar sought, as well he ought, To do his best to save him. And in this case we understand why he was subsequently panned, And why he got the deadly swat. The Roman plotters gave him.

Emancipator.

Oh, the hours I have devoted to the books that I have bought! Not because I wished to read them, but because I thought I ought; And I waded through their chapters to the last and final page, With a dogged perseverance, in a dumb and helpless rage.

Conscientiously I plodded, not a single word I skipped; Though it gave me small enjoyment, seldom was my interest gripped; Fok as a village sermon, dry as some old parchment deed— Still, persistently I swallowed books I thought I ought to read.

Now, how changed the situation! All unbidden by myself, I can gaze on unread volumes standing neatly on the shelf; Though I have great tombs of wisdom, to peruse them there's no need; Circumstances alter cases. Now, I do not have to read!

I can sit in lazy comfort, flipping uncut pages o'er, While no guilty pang of conscience bids me read the weary lore; Gloating over rare old volumes and editions de luxe— I've become a book collector—and we never read our books! —Carolyn Wells in Life.

Dispossessed.

At a ball game between a South Carolina negro team and a visiting team of similar color a negro preacher was acting as umpire. The pitcher had gone rather wild and had permitted all the bases to fill. Another man came to the bat, and the nervous pitcher shot one over.

"Ball one," yelled the ump. The pitcher tried again. "Ball two," was the decision. Another effort by the hurler. "Ball three," said the umpire. The pitcher saw his predicament, and made one master effort to save the day. "Ball four," yelled the ump, "and the man's out." "How come, I see out?" inquired the enraged batter. "I see repelled to put you out, nigger. Don't you see dar's nowhere else to put you?" reasoned the umpire.—Columbia (S. C.) State.

A lady once wrote him: "Sir: You sent back last week a story of mine. I know that you did not read the story. For, as a test, I had pasted together pages 13, 19 and 20 and the story came back with these pages still pasted; and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading same." Mr. Page wrote back: "Madame: At breakfast when I Democrat.

The Lie Direct.

It seems that in the commercial traveler's profession there is an understanding, as firmly established as an unwritten law and certainly more so than a written one, that a salesman never tells a competitor the name of the next town he is to "make." If one asks another where he goes from here, the other names a town where he is pretty likely not to be going. Two good friends of "the road" met up in a town along the Ohio. "Where are you going?"
